Athabasca University

Bachelor of Arts Degree 3-Year Psychology Concentration

3-Year B.A. with a Concentration in Psychology

The three-year Bachelor of Arts Degree, both as a general and a concentration in psychology is widely respected across Canada and the United States.

While the three year degree program is not geared to provide you with direct access to graduate-level studies, it is a highly marketable credential.

If you already hold a previous degree you may not enroll in the three-year degree program.

If you are currently in the four-year Bachelor of Arts Degree Program , you may transfer to the three-year degree program if you wish, but should note that because of degree requirements it may not be possible to transfer all courses completed to date.

General degree requirements for the B.A. Psychology Concentration include:

1. 54 credits in the senior (300 or 400 level)
2. 66 credits in Humanities and Social Science
3. 12 credits in the Humanities area of study
4. 6 credits in the Science area of study
5. 12 credits in Social Science

A minimum of 30 credits must be taken through Athabasca University to obtain the degree.

Maximum Prior Learning Assessment and Recognition credits-6

All new students starting in the B.A. Program will start as a Cohort Group. This will mean that this new group of students will be taking the same courses. (List of courses to be offered for the new intake will be posted).

Admission Requirements:

Candidates are required to satisfactorily complete the Skills Appraisal Testing.
